Tomorrow we are serving this enticing custard as it should be served. Prepared by a hotel chef, served as you have been accustomed to enjoying it at the very best hotels. The "commercial" features, displeasing to people of good taste, are unknown here. The atmosphere is that of a good hotel, increasing the real enjoyment of good foods, ex-pertly prepared and served. The menu is varied, the dishes and their preparation, not commonly found outside of good hotel dining rooms. We invite you to dine hereknowing that your experience will be a revelation, drawing you back time and again.

IN MORGAN'S VISIT

Paper Believes "Few Paltry American Millions" Can Save Country.

BY A. R. DECKER.

By Cable to The Star and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1922. VIENNA, May 27.—Austria is paricularly interested in J. P. Morgan's visit to Europe and the reported sending to Vienna of American experts to examine credit possibilities. The success of a Prague city loan sold to a British firm despite a favorable American offer, raised hopes in Vienna.

"The American finance king," says "The American finance king," says the Arbeiter Zeitung, "can with a few paltry million dollars save Austria by causing the deficit to vanish and establish the currency upon a sound basis, or by a refusal of credits can plunge the state finances into chaos, robbing us of our last hope, Still Regulating Everything.

However, the succession states were once before at the Portorose conference offered the possibility of credits, provided the initiative came from within through the adoption of sane economics. No agreement was economics. No agreement was reached and the governments are as reached and the governments are as wasteful as ever.

The governments are still "regulating" every form of activity and stifling initiative. The British credit has almost disappeared in a futile effort to bolster up the exchange.

Besides placing internal restrictions upon business, the succession states permit commerce with each other only by bureaucratic permission. Czechoslovakia does not have enough food, but levies prohibitive duties upon Hungarian meats.

Markets Are Blocked.

Austria and Hungary are unable to reach an understanding upon the meat and wine tariff, and, although Hungary has surplus foodstuffs, markets are not within reach owing to frontier restrictions. Credit to the succession states would be a gamble unless the states adopt a common economic trade agreement.

Many claim that the division of the former empire into states which are not self-supporting has developed a condition similar to that before 1914, when the Hungarian blockade against Serbian pigs was one of the causes of the war.

In Memoriam.

AUKARD. In sad but loving remembrance of a devoted husband and loving father. JAMES C. AUKARD, who departed this life one year ago töday, May 27, 1921.

We think of you in silence,
Few eyes that see us weep,
But many a silent tear we shed.

When others are asleep.

Surrounded by friends we are lonesome,
In the midst of pleasure we are blue.

A smile on our face and a heartache,
Always thinking of you.

LONELY WIFE AND CHILDREN. *

BROOKS. In sad but loving remembrance of BROOKS. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear father, KING BROOKS, who de-parted this life four years ago today, May 27, 1918.

Tis sweet to remember him who once was here.
Though absent, to us he is just as dear.
The midnight stars shine on the grave of the one we loved but could not save.
HIS THREE SONS, REV. E. P. BROOKS, GEORGE AND WILLIE. ROWN. In loving remembrance of my devoted husband, JOHN H. BROWN, who departed this life eight years ago today May 27, 1914. ELLEN BROWN.

DYER. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear wife and mother, MARY JANE DYER, who departed this life five years ago today, May 27, 1917. In our hearts your memory lingers, Sweetly, tender, fond and true: There is not a day, dear wife and mother That we do not think of you.

Although we cannot clasp your hand,
Your face we cannot see,
Just let this token show
That we still remember thee.
HER LOVING HUSBAND HORACE AND DAUGHTERS. IDA DUVALL, LUCINDA
AND CORA DYER. KIBBEY. In loving remembrance of my father. CHARLES C. KIBBEY, who de-parted this life two years ago today, May 27, 1920.

27, 1920.

His suffering he bore with patience, And my heart was crushed.

As I watched my father pass away, One I loved so much. SON OSCAR.

KIBBEY. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear father and grandfather. CHARLES C. KIBBEY, who departed this life two years ago today, May 27, 1920.

The midnight stars are gleaming. Upon his silent grave;
The one we loved so dearly, And tried so hard to save.

He is gone, but not forgotten.

And tries so hard to save.

He is gone, but not forgotten,
Never shall his memory fade;
Sweet thoughts shall always linger
Around the spot where he is laid.

HIS SON AND DAUGHTER-IN-LAW, ED
AND JEAN, AND GRANDDAUGHTER
JUNE.

JUNE.

BIBBEY. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear brother-ho-law, CHARLES C. KIBBEY, who departed this life two years agreed, May 27, 1920. today, May 27, 1829.
Oh, how sad was the summons.
When the word came that he was dead;
For he left us bright and cheerful,
And was brought back to us dead.
Gone in the best of his days;
Blighted in manhood's bloom;
Torn from the hearts that loved him,
To sleep in the silent tomb.
MOTHER-IN-LAW, SISTER-IN-LAW AND BROTHER-IN-LAW.

In Memoriam.

May 27, 1920.

The month of May once more is here.

To us the saddest of the year,
Because two years ago today.

Our dear father passed away.

The flowers we place upon his grave
Will wither and decay,
But the love for him who sleeps beneath
Will never fade away.

Nobody knows our longings,
But few have seen us weep:
We shed our tears from an aching heart,
While others are fast askeep.

MARGARET AND CLARENCE.

SILES. In sad but loving remembrance of our loving daughter and sister, PEARL H. MILES, who departed into eternal rest one year ago today, May 27, 1921. More and more each day we miss you, dear Pearl; Some may think the wound is healed; 'Tis only God who knows the sorrow That lies in our hearts concealed.

We often sit and think of you
When we are all aione;
For memory is the only thing
That grief can call its own.
HER LOVING MOTHER AND SISTER
RUBY. MONEY, MARGARET E., beloved wife of Frederick F. Money, died May 27, 1921.

The golden gates were open,
A gentle voice said come,
And with farewell unspoken,
You calmly entered home.

I think of you in silence.
Few eyes that see me weep.
But many a silent tear I shed
When others are asleep.

Surrounded by friends I am lonesome.

In the midst of pleasure I am blue.

A smile on my face and a heartache,
I am always thinking of you. MONEY. In sad but loving remembrance of our dear daughter and sister, MARGARET E. MONEY, who passed away one year ago today, May 27, 1921.

Today recalls the memory
Of a loved one laid to rest,
And those who still remember her
Are the ones who loved her best.
MOTHER AND SISTERS.

PAYNE. In loving remembrance of my devoted son, RAYMOND PAYNE, departed this life one year today, May 27, 1921. A precious one from us has gone,
His voice is calm and still;
A chair is vacant in our home,
Which never can be filled.
MOTHER. The years of his life were number

When the messenger whispered lew."
The Master has come and calleth thee."
He answered, "I'm ready to go."
A FRIEND, AUTHUR JOHNSON. POOLE. In loving memory of my daughter. GRACE POOLE, who departed this life three years ago today, May 27, 1919.

We often sit and think of you, When we are all alone: For memory is the only thing That grief can call its own. LILLIE, LLOYD AND MOTHER. RATCLIFF. In loving memory of our dear mother, LAURA V. RATCLIFF, who left us one year ago today, May 27, 1921.

Thou hast left us and we miss thee Sadly miss thee, mother dear; In vain we listen for thy footsteps, Still are thinking thou art next.

DAUGHTERS, ADA AND IRENE.

RATCLIFF. In memory of our dear mother LAURA V. RATCLIFF, who passed away one year ago today, May 27, 1921. I so often think of you, dear mother, And my heart is sad with pain; This world would be a heaven to me Could you, dear mother, be with us again SON AND DAUGHTER, HARRY ANI
